

Notes & Information, Challenger Crash

These notes indicate that there were many who were aware, before launch, that the Challenger mission would probably fail. The wide range of the insight was quite amazing.

All the letters were written by William (Bill) C. Gough, President, FMBR.

Dear Jeffrey,

Your publisher, Hampton Roads, has just sent me a copy of your new book, "The PK Man: A True Story of Mind Over Matter" about the psychic Ted Owens. Thank you so much! When we talked at the Foundation of Physics Group's 25th anniversary get together in San Francisco on November 18, 2000, I promised to send you some FMBR material that supports and may extend the information Ted Owens gave you regarding the Challenger space shuttle.

The Forward to your book states:

One evening late in December 1985 Ted Owens phoned Jeffrey Mishlove to warn him in an angry voice that the U.S. government must cancel the next space shuttle flight. "This is the most important call you will ever receive," Owens said, "The S.I.s (Space Intelligences) really mean business. They will destroy the shuttle. Its' up to you to prevent it." A month later, on January 28, 1986, Mishlove was 'shaken to my bones' when the Challenger space shuttle exploded, killing its seven crew members, including thirty-seven-year-old teacher, Christa McAuliffe.

On May 7, 1986 Dr. Robert Shacklett, the Executive Director of FMBR, received tapes and some transcripts of channeled material by Jeanne Love from Adrian, Michigan. The material purported to be communications from the Challenger astronauts which started on January 29, 1986 right after the accident. After a review we found the information could be creditable and setup an FMBR research project involving a number of people and a second channeler, Regina Ochoa, to check out and extend the information.

Ragina Ochoa had been working with Marcel Vogel as a channel when on February 11, 1986 she was unexpectedly contacted by "Captain Dick Scobee". The brief notes taken by Judy Mingo state that the Challenger accident was an "alien mission needed to show (that) the world and U.S. (were) abusing privileges" and that "Star Wars (would be) curtailed".

FMBR channeling information from Ragina Ochoa states that there was a top secret SDI payload on board the space shuttle. That the astronauts did not know of the presence of this payload at the time of the flight and that the Challenger would not have exploded if this SDI payload had not been on board. Enclosed are the transcripts of channeled conversation with Ellison Onizuka on Jan. 28, 1987 and with Judy Resnik on Jan. 28, 1988 which provide more detail.

In September 26, 1988, George W. Meek informed me that a book by Professor Pedro Romaniuk of Argentina indicates a relationship between activities under the Strategic Defense Initiative and the destruction of the Challenger. My letter replying to George is enclosed and outlines what I knew at that time. It points out that information channeled by Ann Valentine and Virginia Essene and published in their 1986 book gave a strong warning from UFO space intelligences that "you may not take weapons into the space beyond your own 250-mile atmosphere." "If you do not stop the madness which threatens space, these space brothers may be called upon to intervene." I also pointed out to George that about September 27, 1988 I had received a telephone call telling me that two channels, Carol Hall of Sedona, AZ and Carol Austin of Monterey, CA had both received messages that the Challenger was "sabotaged" by higher dimensional intelligences. In addition Shelley Thomson of Berkeley, CA had investigated the Challenger accident retrocognitively and perceived that the spacecraft had collided with an "energy singularity."

In mid-December of 1988 we began discussion with John G. Fuller, author and investigative reporter about taking the Challenger material and writing a book. He had written the book "The Airmen Who Would Not Die" about the crash of the dirigible, the R101, on Oct. 5, 1930 during its maiden flight from England to India. The psychic, Eileen Garrett had predicted the catastrophe, and subsequently channeled much detailed information about its causes. There existed many points of similarity to the Challenger.

Before we sent any transcripts to John, his wife, Liz, who is a sensitive, received the following: On Jan. 9, 1989 Liz in a light trance said "purpose of the project has not been fully told... eventually carrying lethal Star Wars instruments into space". On Jan. 17, 1989 Liz had a message from Christa McAuliffe, "the trip was the beginning of the Star Wars venture, and weapons went off that caused this ... at the last minute they were boarded". I've enclosed a copy of my Jan. 23, 1989 letter to John and John's record of two messages Liz received. John never did write the book; he could not get a publisher and was afraid of lawsuits. He died unexpectedly shortly thereafter.

Let me know if any of the information we received was also given to you by Ted Owens.

With good wishes,

Bill

Dear Scott,

I don't know what to make of the attached material from channels regarding a possible relationship between the Challenger accident and SDI. However, I do recall that during my visit with you and Senator Pell on June 23, 1986 in Washington, D.C. that you mentioned having received reports of channeled material claiming there was "sabotage" involved in the Challenger accident. The question of "higher level intelligences" is a different twist. Let me know your feelings regarding this material.

Sincerely,

Bill

Dear George,

Thank you for your letter of September 26, 1988. You state that Professor Pedro Romaniuk of Argentina in his newest book indicates a relationship between activities under the Strategic Defense Initiative and the destruction of the Challenger. Per your request, I have quickly reviewed the channeled transcripts from the Challenger crew for information on the payload being carried into space by the Challenger and its possible relationship to the Challenger accident. Although there may be more material, two conversations (one with Judy Resnik on 1/28/88 and the other with Ellison Onizuka on 1/28/87) specifically address this issue.

I have enclosed copies of the pertinent pages. As you know, the astronauts have stated many times that their purpose in channeling this material is to let people realize "that there's life after death, that this is a continuing process, and that we should be continually living to better ourselves, to make our intent pure." "We are not coming through to discuss whether NASA is right or wrong."

In summary the channeled material states that:

- 1) There was a top secret SDI payload on board. The technical purpose was to check whether the components could withstand the stresses, etc. that accompany going to zero G and back.
- 2) The astronauts did not know of the presence of this payload at the time of the flight but found out about it after they were "on the other side."
- 3) The astronauts state that the Challenger would not have exploded if this SDI payload had not been on board. They claim the accident was the result of the intervention by intelligences-energies from the other side. These intelligences consider that the U.S. program to put nuclear warheads into outer space threatened the outer spheres of the earth which they consider sacred. "They don't give a damn what the U.S. and the Russians --- put into their own atmosphere (and blow up) but don't dare touch the outer spheres!" The channelled material thus claims that the Challenger disaster and the series of subsequent military missile launch failures were deliberate interventions from intelligences on the other side designed to slow down the U.S. military space program and give us time to reconsider our military space objectives.

4) There has been no intervention with the Soviet space program because they have focused more on studying the planet earth. However, if they start serious plans for deployment of military weaponry into outer space, then the Challenger crew expects that there would be similar intervention to halt their activities.

In terms of the Foundation's research project for determining the accuracy of the channeled material from the Challenger crew, I don't know how we can check their statements relating to the above. Therefore, we have not focused our attention upon them. However, there may be validity in such statements. The quantum physical model of reality proposed by Dr. David Bohm includes a multidimensional space which he calls the implicate orders. These implicate orders are informational spaces that are the all encompassing background to our experience: physical, psychological and spiritual. Information/patterns that originate in the higher dimensional implicate orders become the causative factors in the manifest physical world (which Bohm calls the explicate order). Thus, it is theoretically possible under Bohm's model for organized information/energy patterns to exist in the implicate order and to intervene in the physical world by manifesting an event or series of "random" events (both mental and physical) that trigger an event such as the Challenger disaster.

As you may remember, the material channeled by Ann Valentin and Virginia Essene and published in the 1986 book "New Teachings for an Awakening Humanity" predicted such an intervention. "This is our message. Listen and heed. You may not violate the space lying beyond the 250-mile strip of your own boundaries with weaponry. I repeat. You may not take weapons into the space beyond your own 250-mile atmosphere without the creator's permission" (p-139). "Please be advised that you are being watched on the universal television system in far-flung areas of a Universe beyond your imagination to understand. That is why the space vehicles you call UFO's have been monitoring earthly activities. Since you have taken violence into space, and more of it is being planned, they are greatly concerned about the developing destructive technology and weaponry here. We of the spiritual realms must tell you that if you do not stop the madness which threatens space, these space brothers may be called upon to intervene -- to keep the planet from your path of annihilation" (p-145). However, I don't know if these predictions were made before or after the Challenger accident on January 28, 1986.

The day before your letter arrived, I received a phone call on this same subject. Two other channelers (Carol Hall of Sedona, AZ and Carol Austin of Monterey, CA) both had received messages that the Challenger was "sabotaged" by higher dimensional intelligences. In addition, a third person spoke to me who had not channel but instead used a remote viewing technique to investigate retrocognitively the accident shortly after it occurred. She had perceived by looking back along the time line that "the Challenger collided with a stable lens shaped energy singularity that created severe stresses in the craft and its materials" just prior to its destruction - although the source of the singularity was not clear.

George, this is all the information that I have on a possible relation between SDI and the destruction of the Challenger. A word of caution: it is my view that a channeler can have considerable difficulty separating 1) upper level information that results from many people thinking about a possible event and 2) upper level information that is truly the result of an actual event. Thus, maybe we can't know the "truth" of these channeled statements. Do you have any supporting evidence that there are non-physical intelligences present in the outer space region surrounding our earth? I would be interested in receiving the statements that Professor Romaniuk has made regarding SDI and the Challenger. Look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

William C. Gough
